A Juggernaut of the Non-Dual View

ULTIMATE TEACHINGS OF THE SECOND DRUKCHEN,
GYALWANG JE

BY TONY DUFF
PADMA KARPO TRANSLATIONS
Table of Contents

Introduction
1. The Author of the Text, Gyalwang Je, and his Lineage . . . xii
2. The Text of Gyalwang Je’s Teachings ....................... xvi
3. The Main Themes in the Text .............................. xxii
4. More About the Other Emptiness View .................. xxxi
5. Who is Right? ........................................... xxvi
6. Disclaimer ............................................. xxxiv
7. Maintaining the Style of the Original Text ............. xxxv
8. Assistance with the Teachings ............................ xxxvi

Guide to the Meaning of Teaching One
Guide to Teaching One, an Extensive Teaching on the Viewxxxvii

Gyalwang Je’s Teachings
Compiler’s preface .............................................. 3

1. A long explanation of the view of the Kagyu School through the sequence of the four turnings of the wheel.
   The explanation uses quotes from Milarepa’s famous text
   An Authentic Expression of the Middle Way and Gampopa’s
Four Dharmas, and shows how the relationship between sutra and tantra systems is viewed in the school ............. 4

2. The relationship between the three vehicles and the certainties of view, vehicle, tenet. The section on tenet shows the conventional and mantric understandings of tenet, and uses that to clarify the mode of accomplishment in the common and Mantra vehicles ... 19

3. Discussions of points of misunderstanding that have occurred regarding the teachings of the Kagyu gives rise to a discussion of the view ................. 40

4. The two truths. A brief discussion of the various types of truth and how they should be understood ............. 48

5. A proper distinction between the sutra and tantra forms of “emptiness having the excellence of all aspects” and a discussion based on that of the tantric path ............... 50

6. An explanation of the following verse:
   “For the vase empowerment, samaya mudrā; for the secret empowerment, dharma mudrā; for the third one, karma mudrā; for the fourth one, mahā mudrā” . 54

7. An explanation of the following statement in which the various levels of attainment in Vajrayāna are elucidated followed by a commentary the appropriate conduct for the practitioner of each level.
   “It is taught that there are four yogas: yoga of a beginner; yoga of ones with a little mastery of wisdom; yoga of ones with mastery of wisdom; yoga of ones with authentic mastery of wisdom” .... 56

8. A cutting refutation of the position that has been historically taken by opponents of the Kagyu School that the system of Mahāmudrā is equivalent to Hvasang’s system .................................................. 59
9. An explanation of the following verse with commentary on the nature of the empowerments in Vajra Vehicle:
   The outer one dependent on the coloured sand manḍala is the causal empowerment;
   The inner one dependent on the body manḍala is the sign empowerment;
   The secret one dependent on the bhaga manḍala is the method empowerment;
   The suchness one dependent on the wisdom manḍala is the fact empowerment .................. 65

10. A commentary on the three aspects of samādhi that are important as one of the three purities in development stage practice, “bliss, luminosity, and no-thought” ...... 69

11. Given that the identifying feature of Unsurpassed Yoga Tantra is “yoga of unified method and prajñā or bliss and emptiness”, a clear dissection of the two approaches to unification—mother and father tantra—is given ...... 72

12. Further commentary on the emphases given respectively in father tantra, mother tantra, and non-dual tantra and more commentary about the meaning of empowerment 76

13. Commentary on the following excerpt from a text regarding the approach of a practitioner of yoga:
   “What is ‘very un-elaborate’? Abandoning all frivolity then, the habits of food of dhyāna, only dwelling, mudrā of wisdom, and staying in samāpatti is being very un-elaborate ...” .................. 78

14. The following four paradoxes are explained as being not contradictory:
   The two assertions that at the level of a buddha there is wisdom and that there is no wisdom;
   That all views are abandoned and that all views are completed;
   That in superior meaning there is no attainment of buddha and that it is obtained in mind;
That that equipoise has appearances and that it does not have appearances ............................ 79

15. On valid cognition and how it relates to the ultimate view of Vajra Vehicle ................................. 81

16. The pāramitās defined and briefly explained ..................... 83

17. Why the combined path of pāramitā and Mahāmudrā present in the Kagyu tradition due to the melding of the Kadampa teachings and the Mahāmudrā teaching is not mistaken ................................. 84

18. Quotes from Lamp of a Compendium of Conduct and The Five Stages show how the fictional is to be present or not in a practitioner’s samādhi and the five stages involved in the direct manifestation of actuality for the practitioner . 86

19. The following quote from the Kālachakra is explained to show the meaning of Kālachakra as non-dual:

“The yoga glorious Kālachakra’s Ka-string possessor’s A assemblage—therein is the purpose of humans’ liberation” ................................. 89

20. How the dualities “good” and “bad” are asserted in the lower vehicles but not the Vajra Vehicle and how they are taken into the Vajra Vehicle and purified into reality . 90

21. The difference between sutra and tantra concisely explained using statements from representatives of all four schools (Bodongpa, Salugpa, Tsongkhapa, and Gyalwang Je) ................................. 92

22. An explanation of the following statement results in a description of the path of Secret Mantra:

“‘Outer and secret vehicles three’ is not saying ‘outer, secret, and vehicle, these three’, it is saying, ‘in both outer Pāramitā and Secret Mantra a three-fold journey is differentiated’” ................................. 94
23. The four distinctions between outsiders and insiders: view, reliance, conduct, and fruition ....................... 96
24. A short teaching on the path of exiting samsara according to the Great and Vajra Vehicles .................... 98
25. The meaning of verses repeated during the taking of empowerment in relation to the guru and the deity being requested ................................. 99
26. An explanation of the fact that the meanings of the words at the time of taking vows are commitments and are aspirations, too ................................. 101
27. The three vehicles ........................................ 102
28. The correct definition of a pratyekabuddha ............... 104
29. Definition and explanation of the important term “amanisikāra” usually taken to mean “no mentation” .... 105
30. On the three vajras within the context of the six-limbed yoga of Kālachakra .................................. 107
31. The meaning of basket and the three higher trainings of discipline, samādhi, and prajñā ......................... 111
32. An explanation of vowed restraint, and the three vows 113
33. Definition of śūnyatā, emptiness, and the difference between the emptiness having the excellence of all superficies as explained in sutra and tantra ................. 115
34. The meaning of the three vowed restraints ............. 117
35. On vowed restraints in the Vajra Vehicle, the meaning of the samayas .............................................. 118
36. The meaning of keeping the vow of where the flower landed ............................................................. 120
37. Mother tantra, women, and the path. Also, the meaning of eating shit and piss ................................. 121

38. The meaning of empowerment ............................. 122

39. An important point concerning what happens when a vow is taken ............................................. 124

40. Teachings on inner Kālachakra ............................ 125

41. The difference between the teaching of outsiders and insiders .................................................. 127

42. The meaning of the terms Brahmīn, Brahmā, and Great Brahmīn when used in the Buddhist tradition as appellations of the Buddha .................................................. 129

43. The four levels of provisional and definitive meaning in relationship to the four turnings of the wheel of dharma and whether or not all the vehicles contain the full meaning of Mahāmudrā .......................... 132

44. The sequence of view through the four turnings of the wheel and a discussion of the two modes of cutting exaggeration .................................................. 134

45. Teachings on channels and winds in relationship to realization from Kālachakra and Hevajra ............. 136

46. Definition of attainment of accomplishment ............ 139

47. Explanation of the quote from Kālachakra, “Prajñātantra’ from the east then again, ‘Yoga of Ensuing Knowledge’, came from the west face. The right face said ‘by the master of the conquerors, “Yogatantra’. The left face said, ‘Activity’, and so on” ... 141

48. The four Brahmavihāras are temporary, not ultimate practices .................................................. 142

49. Kālachakra is composed of outer, inner, and other Kālachakra. Each one is defined .......................... 144
50. Development and completion stages defined  .......... 147

51. Reply to, “There are the various presentations of The Profound Inner Meaning’s cleaving of channels into branches, approach-accomplishment, and so on and the presentations of Mountain Dharma, the Six Teachings, and so on—which is the principal system?”  .......... 148

52. Regarding the two stages of Mahāmudrā practice  ..... 150

53. The basis of purification, the purifier, the support, and the fruit of purification in Development and Completion stages  ........................................ 152

54. An explanation of the verse:
   “Ālaya is the cause of all, it is not consciousness’s cause. Ālaya is the cause of all, it is not complete purification’s cause”  ......................... 153

55. The four and six branches of development stage  ...... 154

56. Are appearances to be used on the path or not?  ...... 157

57. Vajrasatva is present in all empowerments  ............ 159

58. Positing concept and non-concept as the root of bondage and liberation is at the root of both common and uncommon vehicles  ............................. 161

59. Dependent relationship and the meaning of evaṃ in Kālachakra  .................................... 163

60. A brief explanation of the way that the two truths are presented throughout the four levels of Buddhist philosophy, including the Great Middle Way  .......... 165

61. The meaning of the term “supreme original buddha” leads to an explanation of path Mahāmudrā  .......... 168

62. The meaning of the sudden and gradual approaches to the path  ...................................... 170
63. An explanation of the two things “person” and “dharma” 172

64. The explanatory commentary of the Highest Continuum by Loden Sherab makes a statement that can be related to the sequence of the three turnings of the wheel and why the third turning receives its name as the non-reverting wheel ................................. 173

65. “One with no empowerment who with great conceit of conventions and pride of tantra and agama gives the explanations will, together with their retinue, go to hell” is explained ................................. 175

66. Poetic statement of the complete teachings of the Buddha as exemplified by the wheel of dharma. ....... 177

Verses of Aspiration by Gyalwang Je and colophon by Sonam Chogden ........................................ 178

Texts Cited ................................................. 179

Glossary ..................................................... 183

Index ....................................................... 209
What is known as “Kālachakra” has three parts: outer, inner, and other\textsuperscript{232}.

Outer Kālachakra is described like this. “Time” is one year. “Cycle” is the two journeys, South and North\textsuperscript{233}, and in each of these journeys there are six months making twelve and in each of those a division into waxing moon and waning moon results in twenty-four. Each of those additionally divided up into fifteen gives three hundred and sixty\textsuperscript{234}. The reason for calling this “Kālachakra” is because that kind of approach makes a Time Cycle of one year or a Time as-many-as-there-are-kalpas Cycle—hence the name.

\textsuperscript{232} Generally speaking, outer Kālachakra refers to the external world and the astrological calculations that are made with rational mind because of understanding the outer world’s interdependent relation with the inner world. Inner Kālachakra is the inner world of the body and the breaths and how that system works. Other Kālachakra is the system of relying on the maṇḍala of Kālachakra to progress through the stages of meditation to the ultimate meaning. Kālachakra is generally translated as “Wheel of Time” but here is it very clear that it means “Cycles of Time”.

\textsuperscript{233} … of the sun apparently moving north and south in the course of one year …

\textsuperscript{234} … days in a year based on a lunar calendar for the months.
Inner Kālachakra is described like this. The collection of breaths taken in one complete night-day is “Time”. “Cycle” is taught as the two journeys, right and left\(^\text{235}\), and these each additionally are the six great shifts’ equal and unequal paths to give twelve great shifts which, by the nature of dividing the shifts into half shifts, is shown as twenty-four sides\(^\text{236}\). Each of those also is assessed as having fifteen parts so that each of sixty breaths having like that what is labelled a small day-night of three hundred and sixty, and so on, there is a complete Time Cycle of one day. Because of that kind of cycle or because living creatures cycle in that kind of way, it is called Time Cycle or “Kālachakra”.

Other Kālachakra is described like this. When of development and completion stages it is connected with development stage, it is connected with the purities: the complete purity of outer and inner time comes as the single kāya; the complete purity of the two journeys comes as the two feet; the complete purity of the outer and inner twelve shifts comes as the twelve shoulders; the complete purity of the sides\(^\text{237}\) comes as the twenty-four hands; the complete purity of greater and smaller day-and-night comes as the three hundred and sixty joints, and so on. In the completion stage, “Time” is all phenomena being one in the essentiality which is unchanging bliss and that having the excellence of all superficies starting with the two journeys of method and prajñā, the six limbs\(^\text{238}\), twelve true meanings, and so on is “Cycle”. Additionally, it says in the tantra,

---

\(^{235}\) The breath coming and going from two nostrils, left and right.

\(^{236}\) This has a profound inner meaning; the same talk is thoroughly laid out in the text by Karmapa Rangjung Dorje called The Profound Inner Meaning. “Sides” here means “specific parts”.

\(^{237}\) … as mentioned in Inner Kālachakra above …

\(^{238}\) … of the six-limbed yoga in the completion stage of Kālachakra …
These, sealed by the three existences, are one cycle which is the single arising of the conqueror’s bliss.